Looking for answers to problem water?

You hear advertisements every day for non-electric water softening, the latest technologies, or incredible promises of how much better each competitor's equipment is than anyone else's. All these companies typically have one thing in common... their equipment is very expensive! Many of their promises are either undocumented or would be of little value to the consumer if the consumer really understood all the facts. Our goal is to provide the best quality equipment, with the availability of professional installation, and to provide answers to your questions. We'll help you honestly evaluate which equipment is best-suited for your home and your living situation. Our motto is, "Know the right equipment for the job, and never pay too much!"
